Achieving Your Child's Best Health: The "Well Child Check Visit"

Thank you for choosing EvergreenHealth for your care today. We are happy to partner with you in achieving your child's best health.

Please review the questions and answers below. If you have additional questions after reviewing this handout, please do not hesitate to ask.

What happens during a Well Child Check Visit?

During the visit, your child's provider will:

- Review your child's medical and family medical history
- Review your child's immunizations
- Check your child's growth parameters
- Assess for any developmental concerns

Depending on your child's general health and the results of the visit, further tests or appointments may be requested.

What does not happen during the visit?

- This visit is not intended to be a comprehensive review of problems or concerns. Please schedule a separate visit for those.

What should you bring to the visit?

- Immunization records! We may have the past immunizations on file, but we will want to review and update your records.
- Sports physical forms from your child's school, if this is needed.
- A list of prescription and over-the-counter drugs that your child is taking.
